

You may want to print each page on a different color of paper; it will make your layered book fun and interesting! Cut out the rectangle on each page. Stack together with the smallest on top and the largest on the bottom. Staple at the top. Have your child cut out the pictures and glue them into the book. Then label them with the title and description of each picture, found below.

Roads: They were made of sand and gravel.

Aqueducts: They carried water.

Apartments: They were made of concrete.

Arenas: The gladiators fought in arenas, like the colosseum.

The Roman Empire

Chapter 28

